SEE POPULATION OF 177,600 IN COUNTY BY 1960

Enough Lots in Lake County to House Half a Million

Forecasts of 1960 give Lake county a population of 177,000, according to estimates released recently by the Chicago Regional Planning association.

In the 1930 census Lake county's total population was 104,387. It is interesting to note that there are more lots in the county than there are persons residing within its borders, for to December, 1936, there were a total of 117,643 lots recorded in Lake county. Average lot occupancy is four persons, indicating that there are now enough lots to house 470,400 persons.

Outside the north shore townships and cities, by far the greatest number of lots lie in the townships of Antioch, Grant, Lake Villa and Avon, which comprise the lake region. In these four townships there are 25,157 lots, and while the region may justly boast a summer population of 60,000 to 75,000, the fact remains that there are thousands of vacant lots for sale and these greatly outnumber the land parcels improved and ready for occupancy.

Disposing of the lots is a problem for realtors and ambitious subdividers, and success will come first to those most proficient in exploiting their particular locations. Population forecasts indicate that it is extremely unlikely that all lots will be sold by 1960 when it is estimated the county will have 177,000, while a complete sell-out of lots available would bring a potential population of nearly a half million.

Shotgun Pellet Grazes Eye of Trevor Boy, 13

Louis Pepper Jr., 13-year old youth of Trevor, narrowly escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon when he was struck in the right eye by a glancing pellet from a shotgun shell. It is believed that his sight will not be impaired by the injury.

He was acting as a heater for a party of pheasant hunters from Kenosha when the accident occurred. The metal pellet, which apparently glanced from a corn stalk after one of the hunters had fired at a bird, grazed the eyeball leaving young Pepper temporarily blinded in the injured eye.

He was rushed to Antioch by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pepper Sr., for medical treatment. The doctor reported that it was probable he would entirely recover from the temporary loss of sight.

Insurance Men Attend State Meet

J. S. Denman, secretary, and Arthur Leng, agent for the Millburn Mutual Insurance company, were in Moline Tuesday and Wednesday attending the annual convention of state farm mutual companies. The Millburn Mutual not only is one of the oldest companies in the state, having been organized 82 years ago, but it is also one of the strongest, carrying over $6,000,000 risks for 1,500 policy holders. There are 285 mutual companies in Illinois.

Woodstock Jumps Gun In Honoring Navy Day

Woodstock certainly can't be condemned as "behind the times." Last week flags fluttered around the city square in recognition of Navy Day—which occurred yesterday.

Leslie Warren, scout executive who was responsible for the premature flag display, explained that it was "purely a mistake." Someone had called him and asked that the flags be put out for Navy Day, but in the phone conversation he had misunderstood the date as Oct. 20.

Hunters Will Open Undeclared War on Waterfowl Monday

Illinois will open an undeclared war of its own Monday—on migratory waterfowl. It is a foregone conclusion that a number of hunters will be listed among the casualties, also, despite the annual warning to "be careful."

Though the state game season opens the first of the week, only migratory waterfowl will be legal prey for the first ten days. The open season will start on Nov. 10, for pheasants, quail and rabbit, and at later dates for other game.

The daily killing and possession limits for waterfowl are restricted to not more than 10 ducks of all kinds and not more than five geese or brants of all kinds. A federal duck stamp must be purchased to hunt migratory waterfowl.

The state game commission urges rigid observance of restrictions on hunting areas. Since this is the third year during which hunters have had to comply with federal regulations setting up bans against use of live decoys, shooting over feeding grounds, firing guns more than three consecutive shots, etc., the commission is hopeful that violations will be greatly reduced.

BUS LINE HEARING SCHEDULED TODAY

Counter Plea for Resumption of Service Expected by Commission

Hearing was scheduled to take place in Chicago today upon the request by the American Coach company for permission to discontinue service in western Lake county until next spring.

A counter plea was anticipated from a number of residents of the section around Antioch and Fox Lake for resumption of service. The state commerce commission will hear the petitions.

October 18 had previously been set as date for the hearing. Though it was postponed until a week later, the bus line apparently abandoned service on Oct. 17.

The abrupt discontinuance of service left several patrons from the western part of the county stranded in Waukegan as they had been given to understand that the bus service was still available.

Several of the disgruntled commuters, according to reports, have filed claims against the bus company to cover the cost of cab transportation which they were obliged to employ to reach their destinations.

During the resort season the American coach company operated two lines from Waukegan, one to Antioch and Channel Lake and the other to Fox Lake. They wished to discontinue service until May 22, 1938.

Pair of Antioch High School Pedagogues Greatly Surprised by Their Own Brain Child

Success of Freshman Reading Course Surpasses Expectations

Principal L. O. Bright is beginning to suspect that he doesn't know his own strength as an educational pioneer.

It was just a year ago that he introduced, in collaboration with Mrs. Marguerite Phillips, instructor in speech, the freshman class in remedial reading at Antioch High school.

The class was designed to aid the less agile readers in English I—but the degree to which it was destined to improve their ability was entirely unforeseen.

Test Shows Rating. When school opened, all freshmen English students were tested in reading on the bases of speed and comprehension. The less adept readers were required to take the remedial training.

At the end of the year all the students were given a test similar to the earlier one. It was hoped that the results would show a greater equality of reading ability; no more was expected.

Imagine, then, the surprise of Mr. Bright and Mrs. Phillips when the "inferior" readers who had been forced to take the special training, read both more rapidly and with more complete comprehension than their "superior" classmates!

And when the end of the year re-

BUDGET FOR '37-'38 IS MADE PUBLIC BY GRADE P.T.A.

Expense for Current Year Listed by Committee at $196.00

Listing expenditures estimated at $196, the budget for 1937-38 of the grade school Parent-Teachers association was presented at the first meeting of that organization held recently.

Members of the committee which drew up the budget are Mrs. Harry Radtke, Mrs. James Dunn and Mrs. Virgil Felter.

Monthly card parties are expected to contribute at least $125 of the total receipts for the coming year. Dues will account for $18 and the donation of the American Legion toward the expense of dental examinations for another $10. The remaining $43 of anticipated receipts will have to be derived from a source not yet designated.

Sponsor Dental Clinic
Twenty dollars of the association's fund will be devoted to the dental program, and $15 to the Schick diphtheria immunity tests and diphtheria inoculations. Neither the tests nor the inoculations are administered without parental approval.

Another $40 will be evenly divided between expense of physical examinations for pre-school children and free milk for undernourished youngsters.

The P. T. A.'s share in the cost of moving pictures and projection equipment for the visual education service will amount to $25. The school board contributes a similar amount.

Books for Winners
Books awarded to the rooms having the best representation of parents at P. T. A. meetings will require an expenditure of $27 and $22 will be paid toward the cost of the desk purchased by the association and placed in the teachers' room.

Miscellaneous expenditures to provide occasional speakers, to send delegates to the state P. T. A. convention, to pay national association dues, etc., will dispose of the remaining $47 listed in the budget.

Paper Offers Many Bargains in Magazines

Four attractive club combinations, involving a number of popular magazines, are now being offered by The News in conjunction with subscriptions to the paper.

Among the magazines included are Pictorial Review, American Boy, True Story and Silver Screen. An advertisement elsewhere in this issue gives the complete list.

In addition to a year's subscription to The News, three or four of these popular magazines can be obtained for as little as $1.95 to $2.50.

It will pay you to study the offers listed in the advertisement.

revealed that there were practically no failures in the freshman class—an unprecedented state of affairs—Mr. Bright began to wonder if he didn't really "have something" in that remedial reading business.

The study method used in the remedial reading class is very simple. Its members are assigned matter to read for both speed and comprehension. The former is measured in number of words read per minute, and the latter is discovered through answers to general questions based on the reading material.

Back to McGuffey
Balancing reading time against degree of comprehension an average is obtained which reveals how the student is progressing.

Mrs. Phillips intermittently hears back to the days of McGuffey with exercises in oral reading, which automatically expose the blacksheep who are skipping all the four syllable words and whose pronunciation is too original.

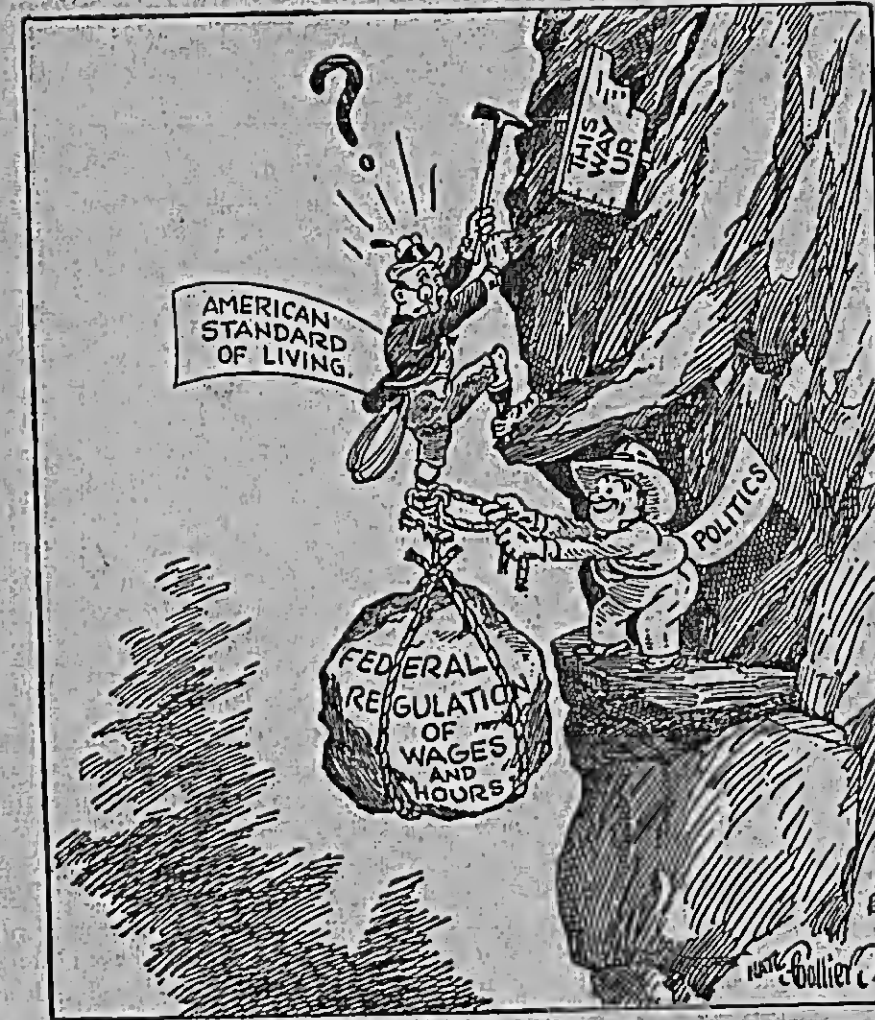

Not Sure Yet
Mr. Bright and Mrs. Phillips are not yet sure whether they can credit the their brain-child for the decrease in failures; but it is quite obvious that results would show a greater equality of reading ability; no more was expected.

HELPING THE MOUNTAIN CLIMBER

LIONS SEE SPEAKER READ FROM BRAILLE

Hear Sightless Secretary of Unusual Correspondence School for Blind

A vivid description of what the Hadley correspondence school for the blind at Winnetka is doing for sightless people the world over was presented at the dinner meeting of the Antioch Lions club Monday night by Franklin Dean, traveling secretary of the institution.

Mr. Dean who himself has but nine per cent sight, read the address from a manuscript in Braille. He was accompanied by Dr. L. M. Cook of the Winnetka Lions club, who augmented his report on the school's activities.

Founded by William A. Hadley in 1922, after he had been forced by blindness to abandon school teaching, this unusual correspondence school now boasts over 5,000 "graduates."

Sightless persons in every state in the union and in 17 foreign countries have been taught to read and, in many cases, write despite their affliction. A considerable number have been so trained that they have been able to acquire self-supporting occupations.

Courses Offered
Rehabilitation of the blind is immensely important, Mr. Dean stated, as the lack of sight is deeply depressing and robs the victim of all feeling of self-sufficiency.

The Hadley school, after teaching its students to read in Braille and write on a standard typewriter, offers them courses in a variety of subjects including: short story writing, poultry husbandry, stenography and scripture reading. A course in shorthand reporting is soon to be added.

Lions to Give Aid
Reading from his manuscript with much greater fluency than many sighted persons can read from a printed page, Dr. Dean offered a graphic illustration of what vast benefit the Braille system is to the sightless.

Hearing that the school carries a waiting list of over 150 who desire to enroll, the Antioch Lions club voted to provide the $20 fee which would carry one of this number through a year's course of instruction.

Cerebral Hemorrhage Fatal to Mrs. Shultis

Mrs. Myra Shultis, 60, died at her home in Antioch Tuesday, October 26, of a cerebral hemorrhage. She was first stricken shortly after 1 p. m. on Oct. 19, and death came at almost precisely the same hour of the same day, a week later.

Formerly a resident of Long Lake, Mrs. Shultis moved to this community upon her marriage to C. E. Shultis in September, 1936. Mr. Shultis died in April of this year.

Mrs. Shultis is survived by her mother, Mrs. Anna Shreve, and a number of cousins. Funeral services were conducted from the Strang funeral home this morning at 10 o'clock. S. E. Pollock officiated. Interment took place at Oak Ridge Cemetery, Chicago.

Stock Lake Marie With Hatchery Fish

Twenty-four cans of baby bass, crappies and bluegills from the Rockford state hatchery were dumped in Lake Marie at Roberts' resort Sunday.

Sons of Legion Elect Orville Winfield Chief

Orville Winfield was elected captain of the Antioch Squadron of Sons of Legion, No. 748, at a meeting held last night at Legion hall.

The meeting was held under the direction of the Sons of Legion committee of the Antioch American Legion post. Harry Messing is chairman of the committee, which includes Dr. A. P. Bratrud and Paul Chase. Senior Vice Commander Warren Edwards also was present.

Other officers elected were: Harold Atwood, 1st Lieutenant; Donald Bratrud, 2nd Lieutenant; William Johnson, Chaplain; Dudley Ward, Sergeant-at-arms; and William Phillips, Finance officer.

Installation of the new officers will be held Nov. 10 at Legion hall, with 10th District Commander William Seymore of North Chicago as installing officer.

The Sons of Legion has a local membership of 50. Twenty-six were present at the meeting Wednesday. The group hopes to organize a drum and bugle corps in the near future if they can find a way to obtain the necessary instruments.

RAT SLAUGHTER AROUSES INTEREST

Wholesale Killing of Rodents in Lake Co. Set for Nov. 23

The announcement of a campaign to destroy thousands of rats in Lake county has aroused great interest in the project, according to farm and home bureaus.

Plans for this activity call for the distribution of a prepared red squill bait at cost on Tuesday, November 23. Stores and other business places, where the bait will be available, have offered their free services as an aid to the campaign.

In urging people to join the rat war Mr. G. G. Oederkirk says that the poisoned bait is relatively harmless to animals except rats. Rats move from one building to another and from farm to farm. Hence, as he points out, the placing of poisoned bait in all infested buildings on the same day is the best way to prevent their migration.

Rats Cost Farmers $31 a Year

People are urged to use other methods of control between now and the date of the campaign. Tidying yards to make feed bins or rooms rat-proof, is advised by U. S. Biological Survey experts, who are cooperating with the Farm Adviser, H. C. Gikerson, and Home Adviser, Helen Johnson Volk to eliminate the rats.

Red squill rat poison act as an emetic when taken in dangerous quantities by domestic animals. Rats do not vomit and the red squill causes death in 4 to 24 hours.

Approximately 5,000 farmers in the middle west report an average loss of $31 a year due to rats.

Lake Villa P. T. A.

to Have Card Party
The Lake Villa Parent-Teacher association has announced a card and bunco party to be given at the school the evening of Friday, Nov. 5, at 8 o'clock. There will be the usual prizes and refreshments and a good time for all. The association invites you and your friends to attend.

WITCHES, GHOSTS TO PARADE HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Lions Will Sponsor Annual Halloween Jamboree for Grade Pupils

Hobgoblins, witches, ghosts and all their Halloween kin will march down Antioch's Main street Saturday night as the annual grade school children's Halloween jamboree gets off to a colorful start.

This year the costume and theatre party will be sponsored by the Lions club in cooperation with Fred B. Swanson, manager of the Antioch theatre. A gift of candy is promised every child in addition to dozens of prizes.

Costumes Required
As in the past, every child must appear in a costume of some sort to gain free admission to the theatre. The masquerades need not be fancy, but a false face alone will not be considered a costume.

The parade will form at the grade school building at 6:30 o'clock under the supervision of Principal Ralph E. Clabaugh. From there the youngsters will follow the usual line of march along Main street to the Antioch theatre.

Short Subjects
Upon arrival at the theatre, the actual program will be opened with the showing of a number of short features including a "Popeye" cartoon.

Immediately following, the judging of costumes will be conducted. Supervision of the contests for the funniest costumes, most appropriate, most original, etc., has been placed in the hands of a committee of Lions members headed by S. E. Pollock. Others in the group are R. E. Mann, Frank Powles and Elmer Rentner.

Kenny Baker Stars
Judges have not yet been appointed, but they will be selected from outside the membership of the Lions club.

After the groups of contestants have filed past the judges, the main show will be presented. Mr. Swanson has selected as the feature picture "Mr. Dodds Takes the Air," the cast of which is headlined by Kenny Baker, singing star of Jack Benny's radio program.

Lions Provide Prizes
The Lions plan to award about 50 prizes to the wearers of the most unusual costumes. The prizes will be provided directly through the sponsors, instead of through contributions of the Antioch merchants as in the past.

This year's jamboree will be the third. In each of the previous affairs nearly 150 children participated and an equally large turnout is expected Saturday.

Tickets for the seats in the theater left unoccupied may be purchased at the regular admission price by adults wishing to get in on the fun.

Social Security Manager to be Here November 2 and 3

First hand information about the various phases of the social security act will be made available to the citizens of Antioch and surrounding communities next Tuesday and Wednesday when Albert S. Lewis, manager for Lake and McHenry counties, will make his headquarters at the Antioch postoffice for these two days.

Besides accepting applications for employee account numbers and employer identification numbers, Lewis will assist claimants to complete the necessary forms for lump-sum benefits now being paid under Title II of the act.

Anyone who has been employed in commercial or business occupations since January 1, 1937, and has reached 65, is entitled to 3 1/2% of wages received. In case of death, the wife, child, grand-child, father, mother, or his estate, in the order mentioned, can claim 3/4% of wages earned after December 31, 1936, and up to date of death.

Issue 30 Cards Daily
Mr. Lewis will be available to address any business, civic, or labor group interested in information regarding the Social Security Act. The Board maintains an office in Room 4, New Post Office Building, Waukegan, Illinois. Employee account numbers are now being issued over the counter and by mail at the rate of 30 per day. Claims for benefits are being filed at the rate of two a day.

Mr. Lewis intends to bring the Board activities closer to Lake and McHenry counties by spending some time periodically in the various communities.

The Lions Lend a Hand

This year the Antioch Lions club has accepted sponsorship of the annual Halloween jamboree, which will be held for the third consecutive year at the Antioch theater. The Lions, and Fred Swanson, manager of the theater, are to be commended for seeing that this event will once more serve its worthy purpose of substituting supervised entertainment for the customary Halloween exploits in which the youngsters would otherwise be indulging.

It is a constructive move, guiding the ingenuity of Antioch offspring into the designing of original costumes rather than the invention of more silent ways and means of dismantling front steps or hoisting porch furniture to inaccessible tree limbs.

A few unthinking fathers may decry this evidence that the "good old days" are passing—days when Halloween was looked upon as the one night of the year when childish vandalism could disport itself freely, letting the chips fall where they might.

But we feel pretty sure that the kids will get more honest-to-goodness fun out of their eating Saturday evening, with the grand march to the theater, free show, gifts of candy and generous allotment of prizes, than Dad used to get out of his thoughtless and occasionally costly pranks.

The community should be grateful to the Lions and Mr. Swanson for providing the younger set with "good, clean fun" that really is good, clean fun.

The Price of Speed

As everyone knows, speed is the great highway killer. The motorist who drives at an excessive rate endangers not only his own life, but those of everyone else on the public streets and roads. He can offer but one "excuse" for his conduct—that super-fast driving gets him to his destination sooner.

The truth is, the minutes we save by excessive speed are pitifully few in the light of the risk involved. A short time ago a test was made in Chicago. A radio announcer was told to drive his car on an eight-mile trip through heavy traffic, observing not only every traffic regulation, but every rule of courtesy. At the same time, a police officer followed the same route under instructions to take every risk and reach the destination in the shortest possible time. Twenty-three minutes later the reckless driver pulled in at the stopping point. The safe, supposedly slow driver, who had taken no risks at all, got there exactly two minutes later.

We have all met the motorist who makes a trip in a length of time that required him to risk a hundred lives, and then spends twice the amount he saved over a normal safe passage, boasting about it. None of us are so busy, none of us have so great a need for saving a few minutes or a few hours, that we can afford the "price of speed."

"Save ten minutes—take a life." That should be the motto of the driver who "opens her up" on every possible occasion. Speed and speed alone is the dominating factor in the great bulk of the nation's serious traffic accidents. Look at it from your own point of view and from a purely selfish standpoint—is it worth it?

Free Commerce

Section eight of Article one of the Constitution says: "The Congress shall have power . . . to regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes."

The reason for that was clear: It was necessary to give the federal government some control over the shipment of goods from one state to another so there would be no state tariffs and no artificial trade barriers. No state then or now produced enough for its own needs. The idea was to stimulate rather than restrict interstate commerce.

As the years marched along, the interpretation of that clause in the Constitution was gradually widened—always in the direction of removing restrictions from interstate commerce. The Wagner Act was based upon the theory that labor disputes may halt or slow down commerce, and therefore labor disputes should be avoided.

For nearly 150 years, Congress has reserved that power to itself. No state, no city, no single group was allowed to assume the power vested in Congress. But now we find a new and startling situation arising.

On every hand, strikes—which the Wagner Act was supposed to stop—are halting interstate commerce. Pickets keep trains from running and hauling goods; they stop trucks on the highways and overturn them; they even intercept and censor mail. Goods cannot be shipped unless they are produced, yet time and again pickets refuse to let men who want to work get to their jobs. They try to stop production of automobiles and coal because they are engaged in a fight with steel mills. Their aim is to use their every ability to stop commerce.

The question is a pertinent one: Shall Congress, vested by the Constitution with the sole power to regulate commerce among the states, complacently yield that power to an organized minority? For out of the 128,000,000 people in the United States, fewer than 5,000,000 belong to all the labor unions. The other 123,000,000 suffer most when commerce is stopped.

MILLBURN

The annual church bazaar will be held November 5, 1937. Roast chicken supper will be served in the church basement and the price will be 60 and 35 cents. There will be accommodations for waiting in the church, and all will be in order by number, so none will be obliged to stand in line outside. The bazaar will be held in the Masonic Hall where there will be for sale a good assortment of fancy work, pillow cases, aprons, crocheted rugs, also bakery goods, vegetables, candy, ice cream and a grab-bag. Members and friends are asked to make generous donations to all booths, especially bakery goods, home made candy and grab-bag articles.

Frank and George DeYoung, Andrew Mair and John Edwards attended the football game at Wrigley field in Chicago Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bass of Rochester, Wis., attended church services at Millburn on Sunday and were guests for dinner at the W. M. Bonner home. Other callers at the Bonner home Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Newall and son, Lyman, of Kenosha.

Mrs. E. A. Martin and son, Richard, spent Saturday in Kenosha.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thiel of Waukegan were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Anderson on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kahf were Sunday dinner guests at the Frank Edwards home.

Miss Vivien Bonner and Mrs. Robert Bonner, leaders of the Millburn Madens' 4-H club closed their club season for 1937 with a Halloween party on Saturday, Oct. 23rd. Pot luck dinner was served at noon, and the afternoon was spent with games and stunts.

Mrs. E. A. Martin spent Monday in Chicago.

People Retain Power

Why and how do "we the people" retain power over our government? "The framers of our Constitution," wrote the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, "did not believe that any man or any body of men could safely be entrusted with unlimited power. They thought, and all experience justified them in thinking, that human nature could not support the temptation which unlimited power always brings."

It is for this reason that our Constitution is made paramount to the government itself, restricts the power which it grants to our government, distributes what powers it does grant among three branches—Congress, the Executive and the Federal Courts; makes each branch independent of the others; declares that all powers not granted in the Constitution "are reserved to the States or to the people," and provides that amendments may be made not by Congress or the Executive or the Court but only by the people direct or through their State legislatures.

The reason for these provisions is our Constitution is to prevent our government or any one branch of it from becoming all powerful, autocratic and despotic.

On May 3, 1889, she married John Nadr, and in 1900 they came to Lake Villa and have made their home here ever since.

Mrs. Nadr, at the age of 70, passed away very quietly on Sunday morning, Oct. 17, 1937. She was one who loved her home and her family and spent the greater part of her time in her home, though she was always interested in the affairs of the community.

Besides her husband, she leaves her daughter, Mrs. Fred Hamlin and her family, and a nephew, James Novak and wife of Chicago, who were at her home when she passed away. Mrs. Novak is staying at the Nadr home for a while.

The News of '95

With game laws prohibiting hunting after sundown, sportsmen at Grass Lake were complaining that ducks in that region were so well versed in the law that, as Old Sol sunk from sight, they would land on the prow of the boat and dare the occupant to shoot!

Time changes all things. Or does it? The U. S. board of geographic names issued an order that henceforth the Spanish spelling—Havana—should be used rather than the Anglicized "Havana." And how do YOU spell it?

Surveyors were laying ground work for the construction of an electric railway from Libertyville to Wilmet, via Fox Lake, Lake Marie and Channel Lake. Finished yet?

To the person bringing in the largest number of paid-in-advance subscriptions (not less than five), the News was offering an elegant gill and silver cupid clock. "No Cheap-John affair; any jeweler will charge you $15, and it is well worth it. Take off your ulster and get to work."

Wynan's of Waukegan advertised "Children's fine camel hair underwear, 5 cents for size 16. Call and see our prices—in RED INK."

S-s-s-s-s-s-s. "At Findlay, Ohio, Charles Vocum was arrested, charged with forgery by which he secured $1,000 from a widow he had promised to marry."

Are cold snaps losing their effectiveness? Two-score years ago Dan's financial review showed improved trading conditions "ascribed to the cooler weather." Last week we had our first really chill weather—and look what happened to the stock market!

October 28, 1895: "The U. S. Treasury shows an available cash balance of $182,000,000 and a gold reserve of $93,000,000. And 1937: "The U. S. Treasury announces $182,000,000 as deficit for the day of October 28." (We're just guessing at the figure, but it shouldn't be far wrong.)

Tsk! Tsk! "Milwaukee will not pay the bills of patients sent to Keely Institute by order of the probate court to be cured of the drink habit."

Domestic note to wives: "Don't sit up waiting for your husband. Go to bed; get all the sleep you can. In the morning when you are feeling and looking the best, if you have anything to say, say it. Nine times out of ten you will win." Of course, that is assuming that hubby will not be feeling or looking his best.

Williams Brothers store announced a new shipment of "Those Plush Caps for Gents and Tam O'Shanter for Ladies." Their silk-finished Henriettas were recommended as pretty fancy, too.

"Mrs. Truxton Beale, who was Miss Hattie Blaine, has left her husband as a finality and the separation, it is rumored, will culminate in a divorce, alleging incompatibility, and he will make no resistance." But who are we to judge. Maybe Truxton was more to be pitied than censured.

A "mum" social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Simons was attended by about 75 people. The first person to speak was summarily fined 25 cents and succeeding defilers of the golden silence were assessed five cents per utterance. Rev. P. S. Leat usurped the feminine prerogative and was first to break the pervading quiet. Mrs. Dr. Emmons and Misses Ella Ames and Mae Westlake held their tongues the evening through. The proceeds of the evening were turned over to the Young People's Prayer Meeting Society. (They ought to introduce the mum social in congress at a dollar ante. The budget would be balanced in no time.)

Ren Johansson narrowly escaped injury when his right pant leg caught in a machine at the planing mill. The pant leg was ripped off and "his sock, even, was pulled out of his shoe." (How's that, again, about the sock?)

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Probation After Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 24.

The Golden Text was, "He that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved" (Matthew 24:13).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation" (Psalms 24:3-5).

The Lesson-Sermon plan included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If the change called death destroyed the belief in sin, sickness, and death, happiness would be won at the moment of dissolution, and be forever permanent; but this is not so. Perfection is gained only by perfection. They who are unrighteous shall be unrighteous still, until in divine Science Christ, Truth, removes all ignorance and sin" (p. 200).

TWELVE BASKETBALL GAMES ON SCHEDULE

Antioch Squad Starts Regular Daily Practice Sessions Next Week

With 12 games already listed on the schedule and three or four more in prospect, the Antioch High school basketball squad will begin regular, daily workouts next week.

Only six conference teams will be met by the Sequoia this season as the round-robin policy of previous years has been abandoned and games are to be confined to natural rivalries.

Beside the six conference teams, Wauconda, Niles Center, Grant, Warren, Lake Forest and Libertyville, the local five will meet Richmond and Waukegan. Two or three other schools may be scheduled later.

The season will open Nov. 19 when the Sequoia meet Richmond here. Following is the schedule as it now stands:

Nov. 19—Richmond here.
Nov. 23—Waukegan there.
Dec. 3—Wauconda there.
Dec. 17—Warren here.
Dec. 22—Niles Center here.
Jan. 7—Grant there.
Jan. 14—Libertyville here.
Jan. 21—Lake Forest there.
Jan. 28—Wauconda here.
Feb. 4—Warren there.
Feb. 11—Grant here.
Feb. 18—Libertyville there.

A game definitely will be scheduled for the home court on the evening of Nov. 24, but the opponent has not yet been selected.

ADVENTURERS' CLUB

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF

"White Prairie Death"

By FLOYD GIBBONS

HELLO EVERYBODY:

You know, boys and girls, this Adventurers' Club of ours shows signs of spreading all over the cockeyed world. Just a few weeks ago we enrolled a native boy from Java, and today here comes one from Sweetwater, way up in British Columbia. Bill Simpson is his name, and he is a homesteader in a country where farmhouses are few and far between. But in 1908 Bill was doing his homesteading in Saskatchewan, and up there, at that time you were lucky if you saw a farmhouse in ten miles of travel.

That's the seelion Bill is going to tell us about today. He's going to tell us the story of the horse that knew more than a man. And Bill has the genuine eye-witness lowdown on that story, too. You see, Bill was the man.

It was just a few days before Christmas. Bill and his closest neighbor—a fellow named Barney—had driven into town, a distance of forty miles, to lay in a supply of groceries. It's hard to imagine a place that's forty miles away from the nearest grocery store. But it's a fact, nevertheless. And Bill and Barney drove that forty miles, not over roads, but on a rough trail over the virgin prairie—a winding route picked out by the horse himself, as he skirted around wet places and alkali spots, trying to find where the going was easiest.

Caught in a Prairie Blizzard.

It was over that sort of a road that Bill and Barney started back for home. They planned to drive twenty miles, spend the night at the homestead of a man they knew along the way, and drive the other twenty miles on the following day. They had covered sixteen of those first twenty miles when a blizzard broke over their heads.

A prairie blizzard is a thing you can't fight. The snow comes pelting down with such force that it is impossible to face and travel against it. You've just got to travel in the direction in which the wind is blowing. The snow comes down so thick that you can hardly see two feet ahead of you. And that's the sort of storm that Bill and Barney were up against.

"The temperature dropped," says Bill, "until the sleigh runners screamed as they passed over the cold snow. The wind rose, driving snow particles at us with stinging force. The cold penetrated our bodies, and before we had gone half a mile we were performing the craziest-looking acrobatics you ever saw in an effort to keep warm."

"For a mile or so after the storm broke we were able to keep the horse headed along the trail. But every vestige of the trail was soon obliterated and we had to trust to luck as we groped for our destination. It began to down on us then that, though it was only a few more miles to the homestead of our friend, we would probably never find it in that blizzard—that we would drive on and on until we froze to death.

"Even then we were not far from freezing. Barney, who was superstitious, kept crying over and over again, 'Oh, me poor mother. I'll never see her again. The storm devils will get me, and many times in the next couple hours I felt myself becoming numb and drowsy. I just wanted to take a short nap—just a short nap. That's what I was telling myself. But I knew in my heart that if I ever lay down I would never wake up again.'"

Beat Barney to Save His Life.

So Bill forced himself to beat his arms about and rub his face with snow to keep himself awake. After one of those sleepy attacks of his he turned to speak to Barney—and found him peacefully asleep in the bottom of the sleigh box. He had to beat him unmercifully with a black-snake whip before he could get him awake again. "And as I beat him," he says, "the exertion brought with it a feeling of warmth that may have saved my own life."

By that time Bill had lost his bearings and even his sense of direction. He gave the horse a free rein, trusting in his instinct instead. On they went. The snow, by that time, was falling in such a dense curtain that it was impossible to see even as far as the horse's head. There isn't a man in the world who wouldn't have been lost in such a storm. But the horse showed no hesitancy. He plodded on.

Then, all at once he began to slow down. A few paces farther on he came to a stop before what looked like a huge mound of snow. Had he, too, lost his sense of direction? Bill shouted, "Get up!" at him. The horse didn't budge. Bill was about to take the whip when the thought came to him to investigate that mound of snow.

Luckily the Horse Kept His Bearings.

He climbed down from the wagon. The mound was round and strangely shaped—for a snow-pile. Bill thrust his hand into it—and then realized that the horse knew things that he didn't. That mound was a snow-covered pile of straw that had been left there by threshers in the fall.

"I pulled the wagon up into the shelter of the pile," says Bill, "and was preparing to pull out some of the straw to make a fire, when I saw what looked like a star off toward the horizon. But I knew there was no possibility of seeing a star through such a storm and realized to my unbounded joy that it must be a light gleaming in the house of our friend with whom we planned to spend the night."

Bill headed the horse toward that light and drove him on. It was the house all right, but they were coming up to it from the opposite direction from which they should have approached it. "We had almost passed it," says Bill, "and if we had, we would have gone on to our deaths in the howling wind and deepening snow. The only thing that saved us from doing so was—the horse."

Bill and Barney spent the night at that homestead, and went on home the next morning after the storm was over. In later years, Bill never passed that place without remembering his battle with the elements—and the horse that kept his bearings when Bill and Barney had both lost theirs.
